Forecast for Thursday 16 Sep 2021

Weather: Low cloud will give patchy mist and fog overnight, before gradually clearing through Thursday morning. The rest of the day will stay dry with warm sunny spells developing in the afternoon and light winds.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 600m: 30% overnight, becoming 100% after the low cloud clears.

Visibility: Visibility will be poor in mist and fog on slopes above 300m overnight and first thing in the morning. Once the low cloud clear, there will be very good visibilities for much of the day with excellent air clarity in most places.
